atmosphere of abnormalities. In the very beginning of the novel, we are informed about it. WUTHERING HEIGHTS is the name of Heathcliff's dwelling. "WUTHERING HEIGHTS" is the provincial adjective of the atmospheric tumult to which its station is exposed in stormy weather.

6) THEME OF THE NOVEL: LOVE AND REVENGE

The central theme of the novel is the Immortal love of Heathcliff and Catherine. When Catherine is married away to Edgar Linton, Heathcliff dramatically turns into a vindictive / a Diabolic character. Before she dies, Cathy expresses her superior love for HEATHCLIFF as compared to her love of her husband by means of powerful Nature-imagery;

My love for Linton is like foliage in woods ...and that for Heathcliff resembles eternal rocks.

Towards the end of the novel, after the death of HEATHCLIFF AND CATHERINE, even the ghosts these true lovers have been seen by the common people of the Heights embracing each other thereby establishing their transcendental love.
